

The PG Clubman sports car has been developed to cater for those drivers that have always desired this style of sports car however did not wish to spend time and money on the standard Clubmans that tend to be cramped and do not ergonomically suit a number of drivers and passengers.

Air Marine Auto Fabrications have taken this exciting concept and increased the vehicle body and engine size to create a sports car to rival the best Muscle Cars.

The cockpit is longer and wider giving ample pedal box room and a sliding seat for driver comfort. A 3.8 litre V6 fuel injected engine and 5-speed manual gearbox are fitted and for stopping power, has 4-wheel power assisted disc brakes.

When assembled correctly the vehicle complies with the required Australian Design Rules for registration as an individual constructed vehicle. An engineer's certificate is required on completion.

Air Marine Auto Fabrications can supply a kit to any stage of completion you require.

Our standard kit is as follows –

TIG-welded space frame chassis with all brackets fitted – painted or powder-coated.
